Invisible Braces

Have you ever looked at your teeth and wanted them to be straighter?

Perhaps a brace is an option but you don't want people to see that you're wearing one? Perhaps you don't like the thought of all that metal showing? There might be an alternative: invisible braces.

The teeth are moved by a series of clear positioners that are about 1mm thick and you can see straight through them. Unless you look very carefully and closely you just won't see them - hence they're invisible!

Straighten your teeth without anyone else knowing!

Invisibly Straight

Invisible braces are made from clear plastic just covering the teeth and a little bit of gum. Once in place they are virtually undetectable by anyone else.

A mould is taken of your teeth and a copy of them is made. The teeth are then moved around by computer until they are straight, each step being copied and a new clear positioner being made.

Because these positioners are not quite a perfect fit the tooth has to move slightly. Once this has happened the positioner is changed and the cycle continues until the teeth have moved into the desired position. Each positioner is worn for about 2 to 3 weeks and the length of time they have to be worn is dependant on how straight they are to begin with.

The positioners should be worn nearly all the time if they are to work quickly. The only time they should be left out is when eating and drinking, especially hot or acidic drinks, as well as when cleaning the teeth.

Several braces are made at a time so you don't have to keep returning to HDIC each time a single brace is finished with.

In adults, long term or permanent retention might be needed to maintain the final result achieved with any kind of braces.
